In the afternoon proceedings of the first day of the Union Convention, in Louisville the following occurred after the Committee or Resolutions had been announced:

"Mr. Cravens," responded the lame Governor.

Mr. Cravens was invited up, but did not respond. In a few minutes, however, it was amounced that he was present, and was introduced to the Couvention by a deligate from an eiversion.

Mr. Cravens said he knew how arrivons the delegates were to proceed to business, and he would not trespass upon their time. He came hoping to witness harmony is the proceedings, and that the result would be a great weight in favor of destroying the resulting and their delegates. As in citizen of indians. MULTALINASONO, March 31.—We have some further particulars of the Milion fight. It took place on Lannas Pike, one or two miles
this side of Militon, which town last waive miles nor heast of Murfressboro. Col.
Hall was not returning, as was at first reported. He had intended to return some time before, but had changed his mind, and when the attack took place he was marching toward Liberty. The rebel force came from toward Militon. On their first appearance, Col. Hall fell back some distance, and then took position. Three rebel regiments were mounted infantry, who, during the contest, fought on fpot. These stacked in front, while a column of cavalry attacked either fank. The Soth on the right of our line, repelled one of these fanking columns. They were posted in a thicket, and when the enemy came near enough, poured in upon them a single volley,
which threw them into confusion, and caused them healthy to retreate they losting by this one veiley seven killed, thirty-five wounded,
and about thirty horses.

Capi, Blair, Dr. Merriel, and Licut, Hamosts, of Gen. Esynolds staff, wenf out for information last night—they returned about unionight with these particulars. On their return they narrowly seasoned fulling into the hands of some robel guerillas.

The exact force of the enemy was four regiments of cavalry, three of mounted infant-ry, one rifled eamon, one. 13-pound howitzers, and two mountain howitzers. One Captain and three Lieutenants are among the prisoners taken Thursday. Our lines were slightly contested. This morning the rebets cause up, and not finding our pickets in the same position as before, advanced and threw shells for the purpose of discovering our new line.

There is nothing of importance from any scene of active operations in the field.
There was a heavy fall of anow here during the day and last night. Advices are received from the Yasoo Pass expedition to Monday. The Chillicothe and the reled fort are still camonading slowly. Sunday sight a large force landed and built a battery 800 yards in the rear of the reled fort, with cotton breastworks. The gun from the gunbost DeKath have been mounted. Matters at Young's Point are going ahead backwards. The dam at the mouth of the canal, and the leves at the side, have given away, and a torrent of water from the Mississippl is flooding the low lands on the point, towards Vicksburg. Gangs of men are busily engaged in closing the breaks, and the work will to night resume a satisfactory condition. The health of the army at the Point is improving. Here, it is excellent.

The gusboat Lafarette on Saturday evening passed up the mouth of the Yasoo river.

Nothing is known as to the future intentions of the commander. The opinion was that he would approach Haines' Binf, to be in readiness to co-operate with the bests entering by the way of Yasoo Pass.

The steemer Ludia, from the Yasoo Pass expedition, was lying at and above Greenwood, the head of the Yasoo river. It is believed to be weiting reinforcements to be sent up soon. The Confiderate gunners at Greenwood are in good practice, and is the laste encounter the Chifficothe was somewhat damaged by their conical shot.

We have papers from Memphis of Friday evening, but their news has been anticipated by telegraph.

It is now thought the gunboat Chillicothe was not so badly fujured as at first supposed. It is almost certain that the Federal force will be able to flank and capture the Greenwood battery. Firing was heard at this point when our last informant left, between the robal fort and the Chillicothe, but no orders had been issued for a general attack by the Union and the Chillicothe, but no orders had been sened for a general attack by the Union Affairs at Greenwood are improving. The Chillicothe was not injured so badly as has been reported. The extent of her damages being some battering of her casement.

The Forest Base was not sunk. The largest gun in the robel hattery was dismounted. Languid firing was kept up on Balarday and Sunday, between the Chillicothe and the battery, with but little effect. The hattery is surrounded by water in the rear, so that any assault by the infaniry is impossible. During Sanday night, the Federal force landed, and planted a battery of guns taken from the De Kaib, about a hundred yards in the rear of the robels, making use of cotion bales for breastworks. With this, it is believed, the rebel battery will be gulckly dismounted, and have the transport of the country of the surrounded to the transport of the surrounded to the surrounded to the surrounded by water in the rear of the robels, making use of cotion bales for breastworks. Sugar from Box Alder.

PERSTRUCTOR FORT, JOHNSON P. O., }

McDouough Co., Hh., March wth, 1881. ;

Editors Chicago Tribune:

Having noticed in the preceedings of one of the Sorghum Coventions, published in your veluable paper that sugar could be made from the Box Aider, better known in some localties as Box Elder, and known also as Ash Maple. (Normaly Astroighes) and having several ties as Box Eider, and known also as Ash Maple, (Negundo Aeroides,) and having several growing shout my house as shade trees, I determined to test the matter. Accordingly upon the first opportunity, with favorable weather, I tapped them and found them as rich as consince material as the sugar maple, and as easily made available. Chrystaliastica takes place readily, and the sugar produced compares with the best made from the old atsadard tree above mentioned.

Belleving this tree to be a valuable acquation to the farmer, I would further state that the tree is a hardy and rapid growing one, free from discass and insects, and affords a dense and beautiful slade. Two of my trees, only seven years old, measure two feet and seven inches in circumference two feet above the ground.

Grow, J. Burrs.

Accompanying this letter was a specimen of An emhent citizen of the Southwest, living near Own. Grant's lines, has just ad-dressed (through Souretary Seward), a cit-ring appeal to the people of the North, is reference to the duty of directing every on-ergy to the immediate suppression of the re-bellion. Living in the very heart of this great consumer against civilination and law and never, under any temptation or discour-agement, to withdraw one moment from the work which we have undershind. "I have watched this rebellion," he says, "from the inches in circumference two feet above the ground.

Accompanying this letter was a specimen of sugar by Mrs. Butts, from any gathered from one tree. It was simply boiled in an iron profits, residues, the cool after the manner of making maple sugar. The product is a very handsome quality of sugar, almost white in appearance, it, and an at the manner of the the maple sugar, and no syrup. This is the voice of the old misundersto tucky. It is too plain to be misundersto There is no sympathy between these per and the Copperheads of the North. 2 point is definitely settled. Kentucky can be a some of We tree in a time that requires all the wis-dom, courage and promptiess of those in authority combined with all the ob-dience, loyalty and determination of the people to carry through this war to a successful laue. As cheap nor-clists say, the "plot thickens," and it beand the Copperheeds of the North. Thispoint is definitely settled. Kentucky can no

Are they aware that the men of standing and property, who were formerly leaders, have tirged this thing on to this result; who have sat on the rooster steg until they have hatched a cockatrice that will now set his veromous fangs in them as quick as in us who have given birth to a monster that will fly at their own themselves they so their own banding, and now stand white and palied with fear?

Are they fully informed that men who have full confidence in the final result, and who are not chicken hearted in the least, do not doubt that there is an extensive proparation on the part of the Copperheads to embroil us in civil war here at home, and that there are many worthlies, unlung rascals, that would like to engage in just such shameless occupation, for the old rewards of booty and beauty?
